belongs to you i loafe and invite my soul The Moving Spotlight: An Essay on Time and Ontology:

Ross P Cameron argues that the flow of time is a genuine feature of reality He suggests that the best version of the A Theory is a version of the Moving Spotlight view according to which past and future beings are real but there is nonetheless an objectively privileged present Cameron argues that the Moving Spotlight theory should be viewed as having more in common with Presentism the view that reality is limited to the present than with the B Theory the view tha it s well worth the read because even if you come away from the book holding onto the same view of time as you had going in you will certainly learn something along the way I do think Cameron has breathed new life into the view and getting on the roller
