1 of 1 review helpful A brief glimpse into the lives of 2 korean nuns By Dhamma I enjoyed this book however brief I liked Martine s emphasis on her particular cultural struggles within the confines of monastic life A free spirit sometimes at odds with the constrained disciplinary demands of Korean zen She paints quite a different picture than I would have imagined The second half of the book written by revered nun In this engagingly written account Martine Batchelor relays the challenges a new ordinand faces in adapting to Buddhist monastic life the spicy food the rigorous daily schedule the distinctive clothes and undergarments and the cultural misunderstandings inevitable between a French woman and her Korean colleagues She reveals as well the genuine pleasures that derive from solitude meditative training and communion with the deeply religious whom the Buddhists call g Martine Batchelor s account of her ten years of study in various monastic institutions throughout Korea many of them served under the most eminent teachers of her day makes for fascinating reading A splendid spiritual memoir
